

Recommendations for State Suicide Prevention Infrastructure: Essential Elements Assessment Tool

As a coalition, committee, or other state-level body, use the worksheet below to identify the essential elements from SPRC's Recommendations for State Suicide Prevention Infrastructure that your state currently has in place and/or that are missing from your state's suicide prevention infrastructure.

Using the Tool

The minimum recommendations are noted with a green star and the advanced ones with a gold plus sign. This worksheet is designed to be printed and filled out as you assess your state's infrastructure.

Analyze the status of each recommendation in your state and circle it in the Status column as follows:

- A. Not Considering
- B. Considering
- C. Planning
- D. Early Action (one or two steps have been taken)
- E. In Action (significant progress has been made)
- F. Achieved (fully achieved and sustainable)

For each recommendation that is not completed, use the Rank column to rank the importance of developing it further in your state. A ranking of "1" should represent the most important recommendation for your state to address within each essential element. Recommendations with rankings of "1" should also represent recommendations you will aim to achieve in the near-term future. For any essential element recommendations already present in your state's infrastructure, leave the ranking box blank.

An example for completing the worksheet is on page 2, for the essential element Authorize.

Key Considerations for Ranking the Recommendations:

- Which needed recommendation(s) must be put in place before the other recommendation(s) can be fully addressed?
- Which needed recommendation(s) can your state body address now vs. in the distant future?
- For which needed recommendation(s) can you more easily gather state decision-maker support?
